

The Joux Verte dam

The Joux Verte dam, the oldest vaulted dam of Switzerland can be reached over two ways. The first one is taking a magnificent path starting from Roche and going along the Eau Froide river. This was the variation that I made until now. Even if it is beautiful it has the drawback of displaying only a few nice viewpoints.

Here we will make a change of scene, since we will climb a bit by driving up with the car above Corbeyrier. The important altitude gain is explained by the fact that we first will reach Col de Tompey pass before descending to Joux Verte.
